Seeing Other Points of View

Raise your hand if you've ever been in an argument. They happen all the time! No they don't. Yes they do!

When you think this way, and someone else thinks that way, it can stir up problems. It's okay to have a different opinion than someone else, but if we don't take time to understand others, then we miss out on the chance to fix the problem and learn something new.

When you don't see eye to eye with someone, it's time to try on a pair of perspectacles! These aren't your average glasses—they are perspective-taking glasses. When you put them on, you see the world from someone else's point of view. Next time you disagree with someone, pop on these perspectacles to help you SEE.

S - Stop and put on the perspectacles. Whose point of view are you seeing through?

E - Examine the situation from the other perspective. How would they think and feel?

E - Explore solutions by asking questions and listening to learn their view.

If we put on our perspectacles and think about the situation from someone else's view, we can squash the conflict—we may even realize it's all one big misunderstanding. Just remember, before you make a spectacle, pop on your perspectacles!

Cruz (Cruzite)

RARE

Strengths:

Making decisions, getting things done

Struggles:

Listening without interrupting, brain freeze

"Has a lot of opinions"

Cruz has thoughts, and he's not afraid to share them! He gives his opinion about everything from the weather to the best ice cream flavor... it's cookie dough. He even has an opinion about his opinions. "I'm not opinionated, I'm just right all the

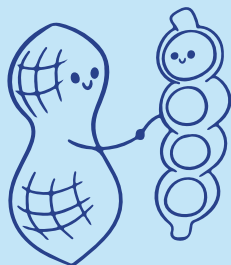

That's how Cruz rolls. Strong thoughts and big beliefs. But sometimes his ideas aren't the same as everyone else's, and then Cruz becomes stubborn. Why would anyone believe something different?

Cruz went to the eye doctor last week, and turns out he needed glasses! But not just any glasses; he needed spectacles to help him see other people's perspectives. With these glasses, he Stops, Examines the situation from someone else's view, and Explores solutions. He sees that when he mixes his ideas with someone else's, it becomes way better - like a bowl of cookie dough, brownie swirl!

Common Misconceptions

Peanuts are nuts.

Nope! They're legumes like peas and soybeans!

Fortune cookies are a Chinese tradition.

Not true!
They are from Japan.

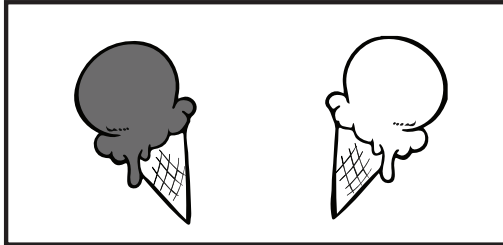

Vikings wore horned helmets.

Nuh uh!
They wore scarves or headbands.

 This or That?

Look at the This or Thats with others and use your perspective-taking skills to guess what they will pick. Share your guesses and then reveal your choices!

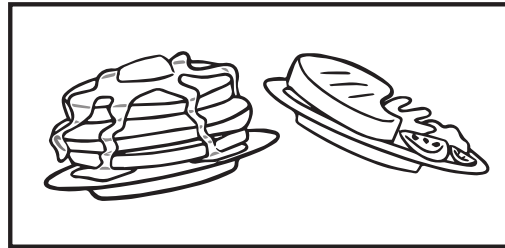

Chocolate or Vanilla

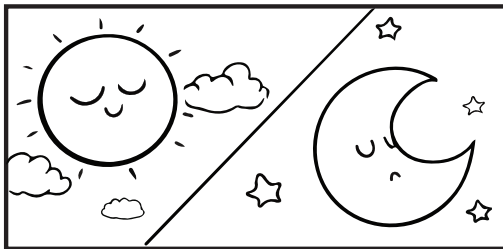

Saturdays or Fridays

Pizza or Pasta

Breakfast or Dinner

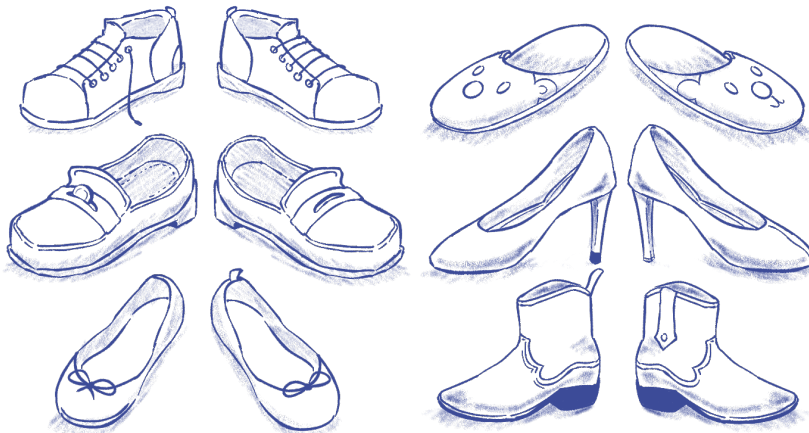

Morning or Night

Messy or Clean

 Different Shoes

Can you spot a difference between each pair of shoes? Which would you want to wear for a day?

I Spy with My Perspectacles

Put on your Perspectacles in this fun twist on I Spy. Read the instructions below, then turn the page to use the pictures and questions to start playing!

How to Play

- You'll need at least 2 players to play, but the more the merrier. Choose one person to start as the Chooser, everyone else will be Guessers.
- The Chooser picks one item from the picture page to be their chosen object. They should not tell the Guessers what they chose.
- The Guessers take turns asking a question from the question list to see if they can figure out what the object is based on the Chooser's answers.
- The Guessers can each make one guess after every question. See how many questions it takes until the Chooser's object is guessed correctly!
- Once the item is guessed, switch roles. Try to find the object with as few questions as possible and learn about your unique perspectives along the way!

How does it make you feel?
What does it remind you of?
Love it, like it, no thanks, meh?
Everyday or special occasion?
What do you think it looks like?
